HOW HIS HIGHNESS WON.

A GREAT RACE FOR MR. GIDEON'S COLT.

ST. FLORIAN ALSO RUNS WELL WITH EIGHT POUNDS LESS WEIGHT.

The air has not been more uncomfortable on any race-day at Jérôme Park this season than it was at Morris Park yesterday, but one of the largest racing rowds of the season enjoyed some of the finest tart battles seen for many weeks. The Amboy Handicap for two-year-olds resulted in a close finish between David Gideon's His Highness and St. Florian, the property of John A. and A. H. Morris. His Highness ered himself with honor, and enthuslastic tributes to his excellence were on every lip. He carried 128 pounds, while St. Florian had 120 on his back. Littlefield had been instructed to ride St. Florian close to the rail all the way, the rail nearer the judges and the spectators. He obeyed his orders to the letter, but he misjudged the angle across the track at the finish and thought that he had won the race easily with st. Fiorian by a length, when Colonel Simmons said that His Highness was first by nearly the length of his arm. Probably St. Florian would have won if he had kept a perfectly straight course after he reached the point where the Eclipse course joins the regular homestretch. Butatthat point St. Florian, although renning cally and under no pressure, because Littlefield thought the race already in his hands, began to bear over toward the judges, and kept this up until he finished close to the judges, while Bergen on His Highness was on the poposite side of the track, close to the further rail from the spectators. All through the last furlong Littlefield was looking across the whole width of the track to Bergen, calculating the angle and fully convinced that St. Florian was holding His Highness, entirely safe. It was the first time that he had ever ridden a horse all the way close to the nearer rail of the Eclipse course, and his mistake in the angle cost St. Florian the race.

But even if St. Florian had defeated His Highnes the latter colt would have deserved enthusiastic praise Ho was conceding eight pounds to St. Florian, and that is a great deal between coits of their class, as they are both in the front rank. Moreover, St. Fiorian got off in front of the whole field, while His Highness was the last horse. Bergen rode His Highness in faultiess style. He did not get nervous, flurried or impattent, but handled the colt to the best advantage, and made his run at the right time. He was compelled to touch His Highness with the whip to shake off Leonawell, who showed a great deal of speed, and hung on stubbornly. His Highness sprang away superbly despite his heavy weight, and Leonawell was beaten. Then Bergen was forced to call on the colt ngain and to ride as hard as he could, using the whip freely in order to defeat St. Florian. The time was very fast—1:111-2—and the performance a magnifi-

Leonawell was backed by Bryan McClelland and his friends with amazing confidence and wagon-loads of shekels. The betting against him opened at a long price, but was cut down rapidly. Leonawell's form is now revealed. He has exceptional speed and will not escape notice hereafter. He had never run nearer this city then saratoga before, and at the springs he appears to have been as carefully bottled up as Congress water. A big pop was heard yester-day as the cork flew out, but the stopper landed in third place instead of first, as was expected. Leona-well was ridden by Bryant, who may be a great jockey slighted by a neglectful world. But when Leonawell is ridden by Taral, Hamilton or Bergen, look out for him, when he meets a little poorer horses than

His Highness and St. Florian.
Str Matthew was withdrawn, but it was whispered about that in silver Fox Marcus Daty had a much better colt than Sir Matthew, and a mad plunge was made on Silver Fox, making him second choice in this strong field, although he had never been seen it public. Silver Fox Is the $5,000 St. Blatse-Mand Hampton colt. He was miserable and showed no speed. Captain Brown's Lamplighter and Mr. Withers's Necromancy colt (ridden by Hamilton) had some back-ing for third place. Lamplighter came in fourth, but icy colt was lost to view all the way. So were F. C. McLewee's pair, Hell Gate and Fred Lee, both of whom ran far below their best foam, and did not seem to be at all on edge for this race. The Kalulah colt was also a disappointment after the flight of speed which he exhibited only a week before. He was out of it entirely, and this was true also of the Castalia, at 10 to 1, made a dead heat with the favorite Correction in the first race, and Mr. Withers proposed to Mr. Morris to divide rather than run it off. Mr. Morris readily assented. Castalia would have won the run-off if there had been one, as she has shown herself a better stayer than the flect sprinter Corpoc tion, and had nine pounds less weight than Correction The second choice Meriden looked dry and ran badly.

Picknicker was made the favorite for the Cape May dicap for three-year-olds, and Reckon seco carried large amunts of stable money, but ran as if only half-trained, going all to pieces in the last farlong. Reckon, who has improved enormously in a fortnight, won cashy, Picknicker second. Bergen rode two winners and a dead-heater, His Highness, Pearl Set and Castalia. He was in far better form than at Jerome Park on Friday.

Rlot, at 20 to 1, defined Stockton, the second choice Riot, at 20 to 1, defined Stockton, the second choice in the fourth race, while the favorite. Demath, got home a poor fifth. Demath, like the other McLewee horses, ran as if half-traines. Moreover, the policy which proved so effective and successful with him at Jerôme Park, of going to the front and making the pace, even with 122 points up, was unwisely abandoned in this race. He was lagging all the way. That style of riding him has been tried repeatedly, and has proved a failure every time.

Bergen on Pearl set made up the favorite combination in the fifth race, and it won easily. Adelina was cray at the post, and ought to be sent to a hospital for lunstles, of put to steplechasing. She jumped like a jack-rabbit.

Kingstock was raden 5. TeLanghim, but seemed sore and tied-up, unable to extricate binself. The favorite, Kirsch, died away to nothing in the last furious.

Forty-two bookmakers occupied stands and were overwhelmed with a very heavy and highly profitable business. business.

The estimated value of the Amboy Handicap to the winner was $5,400, and of the Cape May Handicap to the winner $3,110.

When the field was plainly in sight after rounding the slight bend on top of the hill St. Florian was in front, on the nearer all, with the Necromancy colt, Hellgate, Fred. Lee. Mr. Morris had asked the judgest to place St. Florian on the near side had asked the judges to place St. Fiorian on the near side because of his blind eye, being afraid that if placed on the far side he might try his old trick of going over the rail. This cost St. Fiorian the race. When the field reached the intersection of the two tracks, about a furlong from home, St. Fiorian had a lead, and Littlefield was looking over at His Highness.

were at Brighton at Guttenburg. The cracks are in the finest possible condition, although Longstreet is a little sor when he first starts off. Kingston never was better. Mr. Dwyer received a telegram to-day from Chicago that the entries for the big race at Garfield Park will not close till next Saturday. It looks as if the race would not fill, as there are no horses in the West that want to tackle either Longstreet or Eingston, and unless D. T. Pulsifer sends the swayback to try conclusions with the Dwyer horses there will be no race. Tenny is fit to move along at a racing clip. Firenzi is fast getting into her form, and now s ready to go one and one-eighth miles should a race show in the programme that will suit her.

Reckon is the truest running horse in the Morris stable. It's a pity that Pizarro, the sire of such a grand mare, did not live long enough to give us some more such horses. St. Florian has had a rest. He is a wonderful colt to race as he does. Several pieces of bone have been taken out of his head where he was injured in the accident at out of his head where he was injured in the accident at

A large consignment of mares in foal to good sires will leave England next week for this country. They will be sold by arction, and the proceeds will be invested in American mares of the best breeding. So it will be a fair exchange. Saratoga, Aug. 8 (Special).—The Merchants' Stakes was the attraction of to-day, a race in which all well-constructed Saratogians are deeply interested. It was their day, and they took advantage of it to such an extent that the grand stand could not accommodate all who wished to see the races from beneath the shelter of its roof. Those who went to the track saw the greatest race for their favorite stake since it was instituted. Diable was en odds-on favorite, although he carried the top weight, but had to succumb to both Santiago and Uncle Bob in a finish that aroused the most intense enthusiasm. WINNERS IN A CHESS TOURNAMENT. Lexington, Ky., Aug. 8.—In the chess tournament Showalter beat Hanham and Ripley and Pollock beat Showalter best Hannam and httpley and Pollock best Pick. The final score was—Showalter. 5, Pollock 5, Hanham 3, Fick 21-2, Uedemann 21-2, Ripley 2, Trabue 1. Showalter defeated Pollock in the tie-off, thus winding the championship for the third time. The prizes were awarded as follows: Showalter, first, $100; Pollock, second, $75; Hanham, third, $23.

SHOWALTER STILL THE CHAMPION. Lexington, Ry., Ang. 8.—Prizes in the chess contest were distributed by Mr. Spencer this morning. A peculiar feature was commented on by President Cochran. The representatives of Kentucky, Maryland and New-York now occupy the *Ime relative positions as they did at the close of last year's tournament at St. Louis, namely, Showalter, of Kentucky, first. Pollock, of Maryland, second, and Han-ham, of New-York, third. Showalter defeated Pollock in playing off the tic. thus winning the championship of the United States Chess Association for the third time in suc-cession. This is the full score, including the match game: showalter won 0, lost 1; Pollock won 5, lost 2; Hanham, third prize, won 3, lost 3; Fick and Uedemann tied for fourth place, each won 2'2, lost 3'2; Ripley won 2, lost 4; Trabue won 1, lost 5. The prizes were $100, $75 and $25.

DR. BUCKLEY LECTURES ON "PREJUDICES"

CHAUTAUQUA TROUBLED WITH LAKE FLIES-THE EXERCISES FOR TO TO-DAY.

Chantanqua, Aug. 8 (Special).—The hot weather con-tinues here and the Assembly is at its height. The gate receipts to-day were nearly fifty per cent more than this time last year, and still the crowds come. The one great nuisance, both night and day, is the lake flies which afflict alike every resort along Chautauqua Lake, and are no respectors of either person or property. They swarm in masses around every object by day and every light by night, and while they fortunately do not blie they crawl into the eyes, ears and mouths of people in such a way that the only way to get rid of them is to swallow them. The curious thing about them is their love for both sweet and sonorous sounds. Music has charms for these insects as well as for savage beasts; steambout whistles are more attractive than molasses candy.

There will be an extra exercise to morrow afternoon at 4 o'clock, in the Amphitheatre, an address on "Educational Works for the Colored Race in the South," by the Rev. William Hayes, who has been active in that field. In the evening the American Sabbath Union will be addressed by Dr. J. H. Knowles, secretary, and Dr. Taylor, corresponding secretary, of the organization. A Baptist Congess is to be held next Wednesday afternoon, at half-past 2 o'clock, in the Tempie.

Dr. J. M. Buckley's lecture to-day on "The Use and Abuse of Prejudice," was one of the best ever given here. He began by telling a story of Mr. Beecher, who was once outwitted by a colored barber. Mr. Beecher went into a barber shop just after he had determined to support Mr. Cleveland for the Presidency, and said to

"Do you shave Mugwumps here!"

The barber replied :

"Yes, sah, I shaves everything that has hair and cash, sah. I has no prejudices that interfere with business."

The speaker then took up the origin of prejudices and specified early education, then ignorance and self-conceit combined. He referred to the Copernican system, the circulation of the blood, the invention of the steamboat and telegraph, etc., to show how prejudice obstructed and embarrassed invention. Dr. Buckley said that for ten years past he had been engaged in investigating slanderous charges against ministers in order to learn of his legal liability in case he printed them in his paper. Out of hundreds of cases so investigated only some twenty-five or thirty were really had cases. The rest had been trumped up by rival ministers and others, out of pure Jealousy and hatred. The speaker said it was the greatest mistake in the world to judge people by first impressions. When a boy, before his conversion, he said he used to fool people by telling them that certain strangers in town at different times were Henry Ward Leecher. The people won't believe him, and oftentimes he sue-excited in paining off criminals on them, and they would imagine that they saw the greatest benevolence in the convenance of hardened wretches. The speaker ridiculed phrenology, and said that bumps on the head were about us good a guide to the extent of a man's brains as the knobs on a safe were to the amount of money iff T. You cannot go by looks. The speaker said he could piek out tweive men in the New-York City Rognes' Gallery who looked as plous, spiritual and saintly as Che tweive bishops of the Methodist Episcopal Churchi. The speaker then took up the origin of prejudices

PLAINFIELD.

HE BUILT A HIGH FENCE TO KEEP OUT NOISE. Theodore Kurzhals, a barber, who lives in West Second-st., has appealed to Mayor Alexander Gilbert to settle a quarrel between him and Joseph B. Miller, who conducts the Elkwood Hotel and restaurant. Miller conceived about a month ago the idea of having a concert garden attached to his place, and immediately carried it out. He has had players and singers, acrobats and skirt dancers. Kurzhals lives on one side of the place. Three large windows open from the barroom in Kurzhais's back yard. The noise coming through these windows has kept the Kurzhals awake half the night, and Mrs. Kurzhals was thrown into convulsions last Wednesday night, as the result of nervous excitement. Her husband then asked Miller

if he would not close the windows. Miller refused. Then Kurzhals resolved to adopt heroic measures. He bought a lot of lumber and hired a carpenter to build a high board fence. The fence, when com pleted, was twenty feet high, and, since the Elkwood building came directly up to the line of the property, Kurzhals was able to place it within an inch of the harroom windows, completely shutting out the light and air, and shutting in the roise. That night, ander the barroom closed, someholy, it is charged, from upper windows in the hotel, drove all sleep from the Kurzhals household by tooting trumpets and rattling tin pans. Mrs. Kurzhals was thrown into convulsions again, and her doctor, who was called in a hurry, said that she would grow insane unless the noise should cease. On Friday night Kurzhals went to Mayor Gilbert and made a formal complaint against Miller, asking that the misance be abated in some way. Miller denies that his friends paid their compliments to the Kurzhals family from his upper windows. pleted, was twenty feet high, and, since the Elkwood

Mrs. Mary Wagner, wife of a well-known farmer living at Newmarket, fell from a peach tree to the ground, eight feet below, on Thursday. died soon after.

It was published yesterday that an offer had been made to purchase the Crescent Rink, the largest building in this town, but it had been refused, and the building was to be transformed into an opera-house and theatre. Charles H. Hand said yesterday that he had exchanged the Eliwood Hotel for the building, and would turn the first floor into business shops and the second and third floor into business shops and building and opera-house in the rear.

An accidental discharge of a revolver caused the death of Policeman Joseph Tyson and wounded Thomas O'Connor severely on February 21. Recently O'Connor consulted a lawyer named Currie as to the advisability of suing Mrs. Tyson for damages for her husband's carelessness. Currie called on the widow and stated the facts, and said the case could be compromised for $200. The widow is poor, but she man-aged to borrow the $200 demanded, and she says she is now ready to pay it to O'Connor, although she cau-not afford to do so. The money will be paid next week.

THREE MEN HURLED BY A LOCOMOTIVE. Abraham Hanson, Mr. Levenson and Robert Bloom, who live in Bond-st., while driving to Newark in a wagon early yesterday morning, were struck by a loco-motive on the Central Railroad at the Magnolia-ave, crossing. The vehicle was smashed to pieces, Leven-son had his head badly cut and Hanson had his leg son and his head badly cut and Hanson had his leg-broken. All three men were hurled into a ditch be-side the track. Bloom escaped with a few slight bruises. The injured men were removed to the City Hospital. The harness was torn completely off the horse, which ran away.

Frank McLaughtin, the Harrison pool-room pro-prietor, gave ball in $1,000 yesterday to appear before the Hudson County Grand Jury. His bondsman was John Mallon, a local officer. Thomas Landge, au-other poetsel'er, gave similar ball, a liquor dealer named Muench going on the bond.

A woman picked up a satchel at the Market-st, atotion yesterday morning, and later hundet it over to the clerks, stating that she had found it. After she had departed a woman arrived from Elizabeth and claimed the satchel. After examining it she declared that her purse containing $18 had been stolen.

ORANGE.

Harry C. Schleman, a promising young man of range, died at his father's home, in Centre st., yesterday. He was the son of Frank K. X. Schleman, a well-known Republican politician. He was only twenty years old. He was graduated from the Orange High school in 1889. He then entered the law office of George P. Kingsley, and was about to be admitted to the bar. He was well known as an athlete.

PATERSON.

BOTH ARRESTED AS BIGAMISTS. The arrest of Cyrus Stickles and Jennie Bogart on charges of bigamy, in Paterson yesterday, unearthed a strange story. In 1873, Stickles married Miss Clara F. Crampton, who was looked upon as the belle of Dover, and they had three daughters. After several years of married life Stickles descried her, it is charged, and came to live in this city, while his wife went to and came to live in this city, while his wife went to her mother's home in Newark. Stickles took all the household furniture with him and started housekeeping in Rallroad-ave, with Jennie Bogart. After several months they were married on March 2, 1sho, it is charged. Mrs. Stickles No. 2 at the time of her marriage was the lawful wife of the Eric station agent at Hawthorne. Subsequently he was divorced from her. Stickles's lawful wife came to this city and discovered the state of affairs. By his father's death Stickles had received an independent fortune and his children $1.000 each. Mrs. Stickles asked him to support her and he agreed to meet her later in the day, but he failed to do so. Yesterday she came to the oty and appearing before her husband and his unlawful wife. They were arrested late last night at Ridgewood, where Stickles had moved subsequent to his meeting his wife. They were helt, in $1,000 hall and were committed to jaill but later found a bondsman.
